COOPERS PROVIDES KEY TRAINING TO FIRE PROFESSIONALS

With ever more demanding legislation covering the installation of Automatic Fire & Smoke Containment Systems in buildings worldwide, education and training remains a key issue.

Coopers, one of the world's market leaders in Automatic Fire & Smoke Containment Systems, were invited by both INTERPROTECT & TSZVSZ Associations to present a joint presentation with their Romanian distributor (Sigura Total Fire & Building Engineering) at the recently held 8-th Edition of the Romanian-Hungarian Fire & Disaster Safety International Conference in September.

The quality of conference and international speakers put together by both Associations drew over 300 international delegates whose appetite for knowledge reflected a considerable increase in growth from previous conferences.

The setting of the conference at Hotel Wellness-Magister (on the Balaton Lake) Siófok City provided the delegates with comfortable and pleasant surroundings to maximise knowledge sharing and networking opportunities.

The presentation delivered jointly by Mike Nicolescu (Sigura) and Chuck Lewis (Coopers) was well received. The presentation incorporated a detailed overview of the building applications for Automatic Fire & Smoke Containment Systems encompassing current legislation and standards covering their installation and operation.
